

Zetron Donates Over $11,000 to Aid Oso Mudslide Victims

Zetron, its president and employees raised over $11,000 to aid victims of the mudslide that occurred near Oso, Washington, March 22, 2014.

Redmond, WA, April 7, 2014 – Zetron, a leading provider of mission-critical communication systems for public safety, transportation and utilities, is donating over $11,000 to American Red Cross Disaster Relief to aid victims of the mudslide that struck the community of Oso, Washington, March 22, 2014. The contribution includes donations from Zetron employees and matching funds from the company and Zetron president and CEO, Ellen O’Hara.

The mudslide, one of the deadliest in United States history, has claimed 33 lives; 10 people remain missing or unaccounted for as a result of the slide.

“We extend our deepest sympathies to the communities of Oso and Arlington and all those who have lost family, friends and homes as a result of the mudslide,” said O’Hara. “We sincerely hope that our contribution will aid survivors in their efforts to recover from this tragedy.”
